State Administrator Gives Breakdown for Hempstead

MUCH TO SCHOOLS

Roads Also Get Big Share of Federal Money

As a result of close cooperation between county and municipal officials and the WPA, many worthwhile projects have been undertaken in Hempstead county since inception of the WPA program in July 1935, Floyd Sharp, state administrator, said in a report to County Judge Frank Rider.

Actual expenditures in the county from that time through June 30, 1939, were $947,836 but expenditures and allotment since the latter date have increased this total, Mr. Sharp said.

Following is a county breakdown of projects—most of which have been completed with exception of the road program—together with WPA expenditures:

Roads: Hope-Sardis road, $16,000; Ozan-Bingen, $9,200; Melrose cut-off, $13,000; Blevins-Wallaceburg-county line road, $12,000; road from Highway 73 to Fulton, $20,200; Highway 73 from Hope to Columbus, $2,600. These roads were worked before adoption of the county road project system and many others are being worked under this purpose through December 15, 1939, were $511,800 with $266,410 available.

Streets and walks: Hope, $55,900. An additional allotment of $17,180 for Hope streets recently was approved.

Buildings: McNab school, $2,700; school repairs, Spring Hill, $1,800; Hope, $400; Blevins, $1,200; Clow school, $8,600; repairs to negro school, Washington, $300; Blevins gymnasium, $8,400; Patmos gym, $11,000.

City hall, Hope, $17,000; Shover Springs school, $2,000; Columbus schools, $15,300; Walnut Grove school, $2,800; Community building, Hope, $4,400; Saratoga gymnasium, $8,200; Fulton school, $5,000; Columbus gymnasium, $10,000; Springfield teacherage, $2,500.

Extension station community building, $2,500; caretaker's home, Fulton, $1,800; Smith-Hughes building, Patmos, $2,500; school near Columbus, $900.

Miss Ruth Lee Hurt in Auto Accident

Miss Ruth Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Lee, 203 East Avenue C, was injured Tuesday night in an automobile collision on Highway 67 west of Hope.

She was taken to Josephine hospital where physicians said she sustained a back injury. She was removed to her home Wednesday afternoon.

The small son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Morris of Hope sustained minor injuries.

The Morris car was headed west toward Texarkana and the Lee automobile occupied by Mrs. Lee, her daughter, Ruth, and Mrs. W. T. Faris, was traveling east toward Hope at the time of the accident which occurred about half a mile west of the city.

CRANIUM CRACKERS

Classical Composers

If you're a musician, maybe you had better drop out; this will be too easy. If you're not, you should be able to get a good score anyway. The musical selections mentioned below are pretty widely known. Pick out the name of the composer from among the names listed after each title.

1. "Moonlight Sonata." (a) Haydn, (b) Mendelssohn, (c) Beethoven, (d) Chopin.

2. "Afternoon of a Faun." (a) Debussy, (b) Bach, (c) Beethoven, (d) Milhaud.

3. "Tannhauser." (a) Mozart, (b) Tchaikovsky, (c) Wagner, (d) Caruso.

4. "Prelude in C Sharp Minor." (a) Paderewski, (b) Rachmaninoff, (c) Sullivan, (d) Carmichael.

5. "Unfinished Symphony." (a) De Koven, (b) Herbert, (c) Kreisler, (d) Schubert.

Scandinavia Plans Defense Alliance

Sweden and Norway May "Throw in" With Finland

STOCKHOLM, Sweden — Sweden's outstanding Socialist leader, Fredrik Storm, Thursday urged the creation of a Northern "defense league" as the movement gained ground for closer Scandinavian military collaboration in the face of the Russian-Finnish war.

Tremendous discussion for such collaboration was aroused in Sweden by former Foreign Minister Richard Sandler's speech in parliament pleading for adoption of such a policy.

Finns Push Back Reds

HELSINKI, Finland —(P)—The Finns announced Thursday night their forces had pushed the Russians back 28 miles in the Salla region above the Arctic circle.

The army communique also announced that the Finns had shot down 1 Russian bombing plane in fighting Wednesday.

It was reported the Russians braved the bitterest cold in 25 years to drop 150 bombs Wednesday in southern Finland.

British Powder Blast

LONDON, Eng. —(P)—A series of rapid-fire explosions in a north London war plant Thursday killed an undetermined number of persons, injured 50, and damaged houses for a radius of two miles.

(Information received in New York indicated the plant was the royal gunpowder factory at Waltham Abbey.)

Police said the blast was accidental, and involved "no enemy action."

Many civilians fled to air raid shelters when the explosions were heard, believing the city was being bombed.

Russians Retreat

COPENHAGEN, Denmark —(P)—A general Russian retreat from the Salla sector of Finland, involving 40,000 troops, was reported early Thursday in dispatches to the Copenhagen newspaper Berlingske Tidende.

The dispatches, from the newspaper's correspondent on the Northern front, said the Russians apparently had given up hopes of holding the frigid Salla front for the winter.

Earl Scandinavian reports said the Red army was planning a major offensive from the sector, which is in the lower Arctic circle, but last night a dispatch from the Finnish army in Lapland said a small-scale attack by 400 Russian troops had been repulsed.

The retreating Russians were reported closely pursued by Finnish units which hoped to inflict heavy rear guard punishment.

Arkansas will be represented by members of high school bands at Little Rock, Ashdown, Benton, Booneville, Camden, Crosett, Dewitt, Fort Smith, Prescott, Rogers, Searcy, Smackover, Stuttgart, Texarkana, Van Buren, Gurdon, Harrison, Hartman, Helena, Hope, Hot Springs, Waldron and Warren.

$20,000 Suit Set for Trial Friday

Jeff Wright Seeks Damages in Suit Against Max Cox

A $20,000 personal injury suit, largest to come before Hempstead county circuit court in some time, is set for trial here at 9 a. m. Friday.

The case resulted from an automobile accident last September in which Jeff Wright of Hempstead county allegedly sustained permanent injuries when his truck collided with an automobile driven by Max Cox of Hope.

The accident occurred about a mile west of Prescott on Highway 67. The complaint alleges that Cox, driving a Buick, crossed the center line of the pavement and crashed into the truck driven by Wright. The truck was traveling east toward Prescott.

In circuit court Thursday, Judge Dexter Bush sentenced Robert Bradley, negro, to two years in the penitentiary on a charge of burglary and grand larceny. Bradley pleaded guilty.

Johnnie Lee Brown, negro, was sentenced to seven years in prison on several charges of burglary and grand larceny arising from robbery of Hope homes and stores.

Ludie Herd, negro, was given a one-year sentence on a grand larceny charge.

Lynn Simpson, negro, was sentenced to a year on a charge of grand larceny.

A civil suit brought by J. S. Andres, Floyd Nelson and Charles Williams against the Community Ice & Produce company and others, was continued until next April.

Andres is seeking $3,000 damages, Nelson $600 and Williams $600 over a contract for peddling and sale of ice in Hope.

Old Rip, Airless Joe, Nothing on Chico

DENTON, Tex. —(P)—Mark Twain with his jumping frog started all this. Then Eastland's Old Rip and Crowell's Airless Joe carried it on.

Now Dr. W. J. McConnell, president of North Texas State Teachers college, wants to stop it.

"Humph!" he grunted at the story of Airless Joe, who started a 20-year nap in a Crowell concrete slab and is now continuing it in liberation behind the Ford County News office.

"I have a frog which lived 100 years in the heart of a tree," the learned educator said.

President McConnell pointed to a small, brown wooden frog on his desk.

"Chico," Dr. McConnell went on, "lived a hundred years in the heart of a Costa Rican coffee tree before he was sawed out by a native, sold to a traveler, and eventually presented to me."

"And when I got him, he was alive—alive with termites."

Switzerland Met Austrians in 1386 and Beat Invaders

Von Winkelried Died That Patriots Might Win

HE HIT THE LINE

Gathered Armful of Enemy Spears, Opening Up Gap

By WILLIS THORNTON
NEA Service Staff Writer

The Swiss of 600 years ago were just as much in love with independence and freedom as they are today. In 1386 they gave an invading force of Austrian Hapsburg soldiers just such a dose as the Finns are pouring down Russian throats today.

It all began when the people who lived high up in the Swiss mountains decided to form a loose confederation of their own, separate from other Germanic peoples of small cities and communities common in central Europe in those days.

But Duke Leopold III of Austria was anxious to get more "lebensraum," and to extend the "sphere of influence" of his Hapsburg empire. With 24,000 of the best soldiers of Austria and southern Germany, he marched on Lucerne.

Strategy Used by Finns

Like Finland, this is tough country to attack. The mountains are plenty rugged. Seventy years before, an invading Austrian army had found out about that when the Swiss rolled rocks and tree trunks down on them from above, and with a few men beat a whole army, just as the Finns today have started landings and blown up the ice on their lakes to ruin the Russians.

So Leopold, on his invasion, stuck to what roads there were. Right where two roads join above Sempech, the Swiss fell on the Austrian army in a wedge-shaped attack, with the bravest and most eager volunteers at the front of the wedge.

At first it went badly with the Swiss. The Austrians were armed with long spears, and the Swiss, who were mostly farmers with home-made weapons, couldn't get close.

Gathered Eternal Glory

At this point, Arnold von Winkelried sacrificed his life to give his fellow-Swiss a break. "I'll open up a path here," he yelled. "Take care of the wife and kiddies!"

He made a dash at the grim line of Austrian spears, grabbed a double armful of them as they ran through his body, and fell, dragging a dozen spearmen with him as he died.

The Swiss with a yodel or maybe just a plain yell—plunged into this opening in the disarmed Austrian rank fought like fiends, hand-to-hand, they hacked down 2700 of the Austrians, including Duke Leopold. Swiss losses were only about 120 of their own men.

The independence won by the Swiss at Sempech has never been surrendered. Today when respect Swiss neutrality, they remember how the Swiss freemen fought against "dictators" who wanted to enslave them.

A criminal district court jury convicted Welch after more than nine hours of deliberation and fixed his sentence at 15 years.

2 Sales Week at Sutton & Collier

Horse and Mule Sale Will Be Held Each Monday

C. H. Sutton, manager of the Sutton and Collier Mule barn, announced Thursday that effective this week there would be two sale days instead of the regular one.

Due to the increasing stock sales every Tuesday they were forced to have two sales.

All sales of horses and mules will be made on Monday of each week and sales of cattle and hogs will be made on the regular sale day, Tuesday of each week.

Baptists to Hear of South America

Rev. Clem D. Hardy to Speak Here This Sunday

The Rev. Clem D. Hardy will speak at First Baptist church next Sunday, January 21, concerning the political and religious situation in interior South America. Mr. Hardy has spent the last four years in the heart of Brazil.

Announcement was made Wednesday night by the Rev. William R. Hamilton, pastor, that plans had been completed for securing the Rev. Mr. Hardy as speaker at the morning and evening services next Sunday. At the night service many interesting and educational curios will be exhibited, and it is possible that arrangements may be made for him to show pictures of native life in the interior of Brazil.

Mr. Hardy is a native Texan, and a graduate of Baylor University at Waco, and the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Fort Worth. He is said to be one of the most popular speakers in America today on modern mission work.

The public is invited, says the pastor, to hear Mr. Hardy at both Sunday services.

Long Prepares for A Second Primary

First Time in 12 Years "Machine" Will Face Real Test

PI — Louisiana — Lead to Kum — NEW ORLEANS, La. —(P)—The tumult of Louisiana's electoral campaign arose again Wednesday as foes of the Long machine faced five more weeks of campaigning, jubilant because for the first time since 1928, they had checked the powerful regime.

Gov. Earl K. Long, still issuing victory statements, was not ready to admit he had not won in Tuesday's Democratic primary, but Sam H. Jones, "reformer" candidate, announced he was taking the stump this week for the second primary against Long February 20. The vote gave Jones the second position well behind Long, but the former clearly failed of the necessary majority.

James A. Noe, former governor and foe of Long, would not count himself out because he said the crossroads vote would still sweep him in. But observers saw the race between Long and Jones, with the latter standing an excellent chance of victory if he can effect a coalition with other anti-administration forces.

While returns from outside still dribbled, in a federal grand jury here began a probe of alleged wide-spread irregularities in yesterday's turbulent balloting. "Say anything you like but don't forget to say we were robbed."

Idahoan Noted Statesman for a Generation

LITTLE ROCK —(P)—Senator William E. Borah, Idaho Republican, stricken with cerebral hemorrhage, was reported Thursday to be near death. The 74-year-old dean of the senate has been in a seldom broken state of coma since Tuesday morning, when he was found unconscious in his bathroom.

Mrs. Borah said the senator's physician would give her no encouragement to expect her husband might recover.

Miss Cora Rubin, Borah's secretary for 30 years, said after a visit to his bedside that his condition is "very, very critical."

"Farmers Day" at Implement Store

Special Showing of Equipment to Be Held Saturday

Plans for a "Farmers Day" to be held on Saturday, January 20, are announced in this issue of The Star by the South Arkansas Implement company. The day will be featured by a hammer mill demonstration and a special showing of modern farm operating equipment.

"We try to do something every year to express our appreciation for the patronage of local farmers," said V. O. Johnson, manager of the local firm, "and this year we are going to hold a sort of Winter Style Show of farm machinery."

"There are improvements every year in farm tools, but not very much is ever said about it. What we are going to do is to point out some of these improvements, and in addition, we have a brand new line of tractors which we know will interest every farmer in the country. Up in the big cities they hold an automobile show every year, and it strikes us that something of the same kind on farm tools would be of interest to people who live in the country."

In addition to the style show, Mr. Johnson stated that his firm would hold a hammer mill demonstration. Using the latest type of grinding equipment, the local implement dealer will grind 200 pounds of any kind of feed for every farmer who will bring it to town.

"We have held many grinding days in the past," Mr. Johnson said, "but it has been quite a while since we have had one. We believe that an event of this kind will be of interest to anyone who is feeding livestock in any number, because grinding makes feed go just twice as far."

Registration for attendance awards will start at 9 o'clock in the morning.

Mercury Plunges Downward During Daytime Thursday

20 DEGREES HERE

Thursday Night Likely to Be Coldest This Season

LITTLE ROCK —(P)—A fine snow driven before a razor-edge wind slashed through Arkansas Thursday as the temperature nose-dived toward zero in what appeared to be the coldest weather of the season.

The mercury in Little Rock was sliding downward at 2 degrees an hour and at 10:30 a. m. registered between 13 and 14 degrees above zero.

Unofficial 20 Here

Telephone service to the Fruit & Truck Branch Experiment Station being interrupted Thursday, no official report was obtainable on the low temperature for the Hope territory. But unofficial readings on Hope thermometers, after allowance for average departure from the experiment station instrument, put the temperature here at noon at about 20 degrees above zero. The mercury dropped slightly but steadily all morning.

In Missouri, an arctic wind slammed temperatures far below zero after bringing a blizzard to the state.

Instead of rising with the dawn, the mercury reached its normal reading, sank lower. It was 3 degrees below zero in Kansas City at 6 a. m.; 7 below at 8; and 10 below at 9 a. m.

Zero Wave

CHICAGO —(P)—Householders prepared Wednesday night for a sub-zero wave expected to cover most of the Midwest Thursday. "Severe cold" was predicted for the entire North Central state district with no relief in prospect before the week-end.

Forecasters here reported that it was likely that readings of zero or below would be recorded almost as far south as the Ohio river and central Missouri and Kansas. They figured minima of 25 below would be registered in North Dakota, northern South Dakota and Minnesota and northwestern Wisconsin.

Chicagoans were advised to fortify themselves for the coldest spell of the winter. They were warned that the temperature of five above during the day was only a conditioner for a drop to about five below in the city and 10 below in the suburbs overnight.

Germany Finding Life Is Difficult

Rationing Of Food and Clothing Is Working Hardship

LONDON —(P)—Britain's stranglehold on Germany's food and commerce has reduced the Reich to distress similar to that prevailing 1916, Ronald H. Cross, minister of economic warfare, told the House of Commons.

He predicted that Germany's economic life will be so strangled that she will be unable to continue the war. He pointed out that the British economic attack started with the very beginning of the present war, a condition that was not true of the World war. He described "preemption" on purchase of goods to prevent German purchases.

"Conditions of life in Germany are strained," he said. "Rationing is in existence for clothing and soap. The inhabitants of Berlin are shivering for lack of coal. Requirements of export trade are given priority over the home market because, without export trade, Germany would collapse herself."

"The Germans are fertile in evasion, but our net is drawn tightly."

Infections May Develop in Navel Because of Delicate Skin Tissues

The scientific name for the navel is the umbilicus. Since this is the point at which the body of the child is attached to that of the mother before birth, it has constantly had a great interest for numbers of people.

After a child is born and the cord which connects it with the mother is cut, there is a gradual shrinkage of the excess tissue, leaving the umbilicus. From that time on the umbilicus needs little attention, unless it becomes involved in an infection.

Because the navel contains creases and folds, it is difficult to keep clean and is likely to be affected by infection anywhere in the vicinity. Some surgeons have attempted to remove the umbilicus every time they perform an operation, but some people object because of the notion that the umbilicus is involved in beauty.

When there is an ulcer in the umbilicus, it demands the same attention that would be given to ulcers anywhere else, except that the condition is difficult to treat because of the nature of the tissues involved. Occasionally there are ruptures which occur in the umbilicus because this is a weak spot in the abdominal wall. When there is bulging in the neighborhood of the navel, a surgical operation may be required.

The tissues of the navel are of the same type as those of the skin. For that reason, they may become subject to any disease that will affect the skin, including a cancer. However, cancer of the navel is extremely rare.

Not long ago a distinguished American physician discovered that serious hemorrhages in the abdomen were occasionally associated with the appearance of a bluish discoloration of the skin around the umbilicus. Apparently this bluish discoloration was due to the fact that the blood which flowed when there was a rupture of one of the Fallopian tubes in women or hemorrhage from any other cause, would infiltrate itself through the tissues, finding the area around the umbilicus the point easiest for infiltration toward the surface. This is unlikely, however, when there has been complete healing of the umbilicus and abdominal wall after birth.

Care of the navel in the newborn child is an important matter. It is necessary to prevent hemorrhage and secondary infection. The person who assists in childbirth must be off the cord satisfactorily at a sufficient distance from the skin. Then it is necessary to apply sterile dressings and to keep the umbilicus covered until it is healed.

WE THE WOMEN

By RUTH MILLETT

If the eloquence of society's Romeo and Juliet (Eileen Herick and George Getaway Lowther) proves anything it is the uselessness of parental interference when two young folks decide they want to be married.

Maybe it will discourage other mamas and papas from starting a battle they have no chance of winning.

For the battle can't be won. Because even when they do succeed in keeping daughter from marrying the romance of her life which is a rare accomplishment, they can't stop her from holding it against them, and wondering ever after if she really missed her one chance of perfect happiness.

Another way parents lose is in building up a wall of hard feelings between themselves and the son or daughter and the person they insist on marrying.

So what can parents do when a child legally of age decides to marry someone to whom the parents object? Well, they can ask the son or daughter to wait a reasonable length of time—not reasonable by the parent's reckoning, but by the child's.

They can also have a frank talk—give their reasons (very gently) for disapproving—always building up a bit as they tear down, so as not to stir up antagonism.

And they can offer a bribe. Though that, too, has to be handled carefully, for nothing would so infuriate the young as supposing that they would go back on love for something they want.

Best Thing to Do Is Make The Best of It

But if none of those ways work (with a son it can also be pointed out that he'll get no financial help from home), then mama and papa had better start polishing up their smiles and looking pleased about the whole affair.

They may even be pleased about it in a short while. Chances are there were some objections to their own love affair.

Law Despises New Methods, Pedant Says

A book ridiculing the pretensions of the law, written by a professor of law, is certainly a novelty. But that is what Fred Rodell has written in "We Unto You, Lawyers!" (Reynolds and Hitchcock; $2.50). Only a lawyer, perhaps only a teacher of law, could have written this tidbit of iconoclasm. Here Rodell pays his respects to the profession in general:

The law is the killy-loo bird of the sciences. The killy-loo, of course, was the bird that insisted on flying backward because it didn't care where it was going, but was mightily interested in where it had been. And certainly The Law, when it moves at all, does so by flapping clumsily and uncertainly along, with its eye glued unwaveringly on what lies behind.

In medicine, in mathematics, in sociology, in psychology—in every other one of the physical and social sciences—the accepted aim is to look ahead and then move ahead to new truths, new techniques, new usefulness. Only The Law inexorably devoted to all its ancient principles and precedents, makes a vice of innovation and a virtue of hoariness. Only The Law resists and resents the notion that it should ever change its antiquated ways to meet the challenge of a changing world.

It is well-nigh impossible to understand how The Law without fully appreciating the truth of this fact. The Law never admits to itself that there can be anything actually new under the sun. Minor variations of old facts, old machines, old relationships, yes; but never anything different enough to bother The Law into treating it otherwise than as an old friend in a new suit of clothes.

Because the creature itself also shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the children of God. —Romans 8:21.

The Measure of Life
Not what I get, but what I give
As days go fleeting past;
Not how I feel, but how I live
Not tell the tale at last;
Not what I have, but what I do.
The loads I bear, the paths I hew
Through forests no man ever knew,
The highways that I passed,
Not the advantages that I take,
But give amid the strife;

By PRESTON GROVER
WASHINGTON — A winter day in Washington.

The sun thumbs a ride upward on the crest of mist rising from Chesapeake Bay. The Norfolk boat whistles low and cold as it rounds a bend in the Potomac to come in sight of the Capitol dome.

Women who suffer painful, irregular periods with nervous, irritable, and other symptoms, should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially to help weak, rundown women to go smiling thru such "trying times."

Clerks Go to Work
The sun is an hour high. An automobile whisks out of the White House.

carries Mrs. Roosevelt across the Potomac to the Virginia side where she will take her early morning center. The chauffeur waits to take her back to begin a schedule that would jangle a time clock.

Street cars and buses come in with the first of the hundred thousand government clerks who will fill the ranks of government buildings along Pennsylvania Avenue and its tributaries. They will keep the government going from 9 to 4:30. Nine-to-four-thirty. These are the government, working hours. Lads and lassies from Tucson, Birmingham snatch a last bite of toast and a gulp of hot coffee and dash to nine-to-four-thirty in a government building.

F. D. R. Breakfasts
Flags over the Capitol tug at their ropes. Winds always seem to whip around the Capitol dome. Flags are lifted over the White House. Inside a White House, the President cuts his breakfast in bed. Toast, coffee, fruit, an egg if Doc McIntrire hasn't found him overweight these days. Probably not. The President cuts his breakfast from time to time at Doc McIntrire's suggestion. No protest.

Across his bed are spread several newspapers, brought in by secretary Steve Early. Some stories are marked for special attention. They go over a list of things to be done. In another half hour the President will dress, then go to the adjoining runway fully exposed to the chill air. He may be busy until midnight or later, with a brief interruption for an afternoon swim.

SERIAL STORY BLACKOUT BY RUTH AYERS

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER XXII
IN the same instant she knew she loved Gilbert Lenox, Mary Carroll realized her first loyalty was to Vincent Gregg.

They had been engaged and she'd promised to marry him when she was free. Gilbert had a brilliant career ahead of him and Vincent had nothing but her.

The newspaper she had brought home lay tossed aside on the table, its importance forgotten in the overwhelming surprise of Gilbert's return. Now in the sudden loneliness of the room after Gilbert's departure, Mary momentarily awaited Vincent's arrival. She must talk to him about this turn of events which would make her a witness in the reopening of the Moravia investigation.

When he didn't appear for their usual tea, she decided to stroll towards Trafalgar Square to meet him.

In the streets, the ever-present testimony of war defense could not be overlooked. You had to watch lest you fall into a dug-out or stumble against a sandbag while, high in the air, a floating platform of silver testified the vigilance of the Royal Air Force.

Mary had gone but a few squares when a chauffeur-driven car drew up beside her.

"Mrs. Lenox, I'd like to speak to you," a voice called from the car's tonneau.

Mary looked up, startled. She was face to face with Carla Marchetta. But there was nothing disturbing about Carla. Her smile, instead, was disarming.

"You must forgive me," Carla went on, "for this informal way of speaking to you. I was, in fact, on my way to your address when I recognized you."

"But what do you want?" Mary asked.

"I want to talk to you about something that concerns all of us. Won't you come with me to my home for tea?"

Mary hesitated. Fear of Carla held her back, but the magnetism of the woman drew her on. After all, she was a friend of Vincent's. Why should Mary be afraid?

Before she realized she might be involving herself, she stepped into the limousine. But when she saw Carla exchange a look with her chauffeur, Mary felt she had been hasty about accepting the invitation.

CARLA chatted amiably. "I know all about you from Vincent. What a miracle it was that you're alive after that terrible disaster!"

The car drew up to a side entrance in Mayfair. The chauffeur helped them out. The house was far more luxurious than Mary had expected.

"We'll go upstairs to the drawing room," Carla directed. With a smile she turned to the chauffeur. "Will you bring us tea?" To Mary again she explained, "During wartime, I've had to cut down my staff. Felix is my man of all work."

Upstairs a fire was blazing in the richly ornamented fireplace. "You wanted to talk about Vincent?" Mary asked when they were seated.

"Yes," Carla answered, "I feel he's in very grave danger."

"Danger? How? From what?" Mary was alarmed.

Carla smiled pityingly. "Vincent is a very indiscreet young man," she replied. "For both your sakes, I believe it would be better if you did not testify when the Moravia investigation is reopened."

"But I must," Mary spoke with spirit. "I almost lost my life and if I can help in any way to prevent other lives being lost I'm going to do all I can."

A silver tray laden with a handsome tea service was brought in. Felix had changed his whipcord jacket to a starched, white coat.

Mary saw him look at Carla searchingly. Almost imperceptibly he nodded his head. Then:

"There's a call for you on the wire."

"Will you excuse me?" Carla asked Mary. "Felix will pour your tea."

MARY sat before the crackling fire sipping her tea. Her hands shook and the cup slipped, spilling tea on the rug. A fresh feeling of alarm had flooded her with Carla's warning of Vincent's danger. Carla Marchetta had always been able to fill her with a sense of foreboding.

But despite all this she found herself relaxing. Drowsiness began to steal over her, a strange numbing drowsiness. She tried to fight it off. She wanted to stand up. But she could not rise from her chair.

HOURS must have passed. It was dark. Mary woke from a heavy, dreamless sleep. Where was she? She had no way to guess.

With the sharpening of senses that danger brings, Mary strained her ears. What she heard was so shocking, so unbelievable, she was fully awake at once. Carla's voice, high pitched and commanding, Felix's lower tones. Something about a ship. Mary held her breath.

She must get away on the instant. Outside her room were sounds of hurried packing, the flurry of footsteps back and forth.

She heard a man's voice: "What are we going to do with the girl?" "We'll take her with us," Carla Marchetta spoke sharply.

"To Bristol? To Von Blum's? You're crazy. Von Blum's not asking us for week-end party."

"Look her in then. She's got enough opiate in her to keep her unconscious for another 12 hours. We'll be safe by then."

"How about Vincent?" "Vincent can take care of himself. Did you send that message?"

"Certainly. Static on the time signal."

MARY heard a key turn in her door. There was the sound of departing footsteps on the stairs and in the hallway below. An outside door closed. Then all was silent.

Despite her reeling head and weakness, she managed a few faltering steps. What she had heard was so unmistakable that she knew at last Carla Marchetta's role in the spy ring posting the enemy on British maritime waters. Mary was trapped in the room, locked and barred. She went to a window. The deserted street was far below. Even if she could scream no one would hear her. Then she had an intuitive flash. She groped for the light switch. The blackout might save her.

Garner Reported to Be Opposed to Another Loan to Finland Now

WASHINGTON — (P) — Reports were heard in the senate Wednesday that Vice President Garner is opposed to a further loan to Finland. At the same time, the banking committee decided to delay action on Finnish aid proposals until it can obtain the views of Secretary of State Hull.

Garner was said by one highly-placed senator to have expressed the view that an additional loan to Finland would be "very unwise" because it might conflict with the nation's neutrality policy.

It was to ascertain possible effects of Finnish aid proposals on United States neutrality and foreign policies that the banking committee decided to call Hull to a closed meeting next Wednesday.

Jesse H. Jones, head of the federal loan administration, conferred with the committee Wednesday and advised it he believed a $10,000,000 non-military loan, already granted by the Export-Import bank, was "a sound credit risk."

Jones, it was said, advanced no opinion regarding how much additional money might be advanced with confidence that it would be repaid. This question, he was quoted as adding, was one which congress properly might study.

Wednesday's committee decision to recess for a week appeared to decrease already-slender chances for material further assistance to Finland. The Finns have been represented as being primarily interested in a direct loan which could be used for purchase of military supplies here or in Europe.

WASHINGTON

The president called the meeting of the Washington Home Demonstration club to order January 9th in the home of Mrs. O. T. Beck at 2:30 o'clock. With Mrs. Paul Dudley at the piano, we sang "Old Folks at Home." The first Psalm was the devotional chapter read by Mrs. Beck followed with prayer by Mrs. Elmore.

The secretary called the roll and each one answered with what they hoped to put over this year as their project. The demonstration on putting out winter cuttings of shrubs was very ably given by Mrs. Lat Moses, home grounds leader. Organizing another home demonstration club in another community was discussed and report of same is to be given at next meeting. A "Know Your Calendar" contest was conducted by the president and Mrs. Paul Dudley and Mrs. Lat Moses tied and in the drawing for prize Mrs. Dudley won a lovely calendar. Announcements were made and the club was dismissed to meet the second Tuesday in February in the home of Mrs. Elmore.

Hopalong Cassidy

Author Is Careful

Master of Detail, Is Clarence E. Mulford

AP Feature Service

FRYEBURG, Me. — On a new chapter in the 35-year saga of Hopalong Cassidy, a fictional cowboy immortal, Clarence E. Mulford, is lavishing a passion for accuracy of detail.

Mulford wants to know, for use in "Hopalong Serves A Writ," to be published next spring as his 28th novel, the weight of $5,000 in gold coin. Not content with less authoritative sources, he asked the U. S. Treasury.

The slight, professorial-looking writer whose "Bar 20" tales have been conceived in the quiet of this down-East village for the last 20 years, spares no effort to be sure of his facts.

Once he travelled to Death Valley to check its fabled temperature ranges. Again, he devoted hours to providing that an effective "knockout drop" could be concealed in a revolver cartridge.

In his first Hopalong story, says Mulford, who never had been west of Kansas City, Mo., when he evolved the imping, quizzical cow-puncher in 1914, he made some "ghastly" mistake about fire-arms by relying on second hand information.

So to this day, Mulford practices on a private range, to "find out for myself just what can be done with various types of weapons."

At least in 1939 the Union Pacific's stewardesses found it so. Seventeen of them, q' about one out of each fire stewardesses the road employees, were married during the year.

The No. 1 romance of the year was that of Florette C. Welp of Omaha, Neb., who married John C. Gale, the assistant to the president of the railroad.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just consider it as no nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters that a body has, become clogged with waste matter in the blood, these poisons may start heaving backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of sleep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eye, headache and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give rapid relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Frostings That Take the Cake

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Service Staff Writer

Entertaining is in season. So-of course new frostings for cake are in season, too. Try these:

Felicity Frosting
Two egg whites, unbeaten; 2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed; dash of salt; 7 tablespoons water; 2 squares unsweetened chocolate; 2 tablespoons butter. Combine egg whites, sugar, salt, and water in top of double boiler, beating with rotary egg beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water, beat constantly with rotary egg beater, and cook 7 minutes, or until frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from boiling water; add orange rind and almond extract and beat until thick enough to spread. Garnish with orange sections, free from membrane. Makes enough frosting to cover top and sides of two 9-inch layers.

Special meetings of the month for Home Demonstration club members. January 20—Leadership meeting in Hope city hall municipal court room at 2 p. m. for leaders, officers of clubs around Hope.

January 25—Organization meeting of Better Babies club under direction of Mrs. Gertrude E. Conant, extension clothing specialist. All leaders and mothers interested are urged to come. Meetings in Hope at 10 a. m. at the city hall in the municipal court room. Another meeting on same date at 2 p. m. at the Belton church.

Women who plan to tailor woolen garments for spring will find it a good practice to start on them soon before the rush of other spring sewing, gardening, and poultry work begins, suggests Miss Fletcher, home demonstration agent.

An important thing to remember about tailoring wool is that it should be good, all-wool material, for part wool fabrics will not stand up under the constant dampenings and pres-

ter. When frosting is set, pour chocolate mixture over cake, letting it run down on sides.

Makes enough frosting to cover top and sides of three 8-inch-layers.

Butterscotch Fudge Frosting
Two cups light brown sugar, firmly packed; 12 cup butter; 1 1/3 cups granulated sugar; 3/4 cup top milk; 1/2 cup water.

Add brown sugar to butter and cook over low flame, stirring constantly, until mixture darkens slightly (about 5 to 6 minutes). Remove from fire and add granulated sugar, milk and water. Return to fire and boil, without stirring, until small amount of mixture forms a very soft ball in cold water (232 degrees F). Remove from fire. Cool to lukewarm (10 degrees F) beat until of right consistency to spread. If necessary, place over hot water to keep soft while spreading. Makes enough frosting to cover tops and sides of two 9 inch layers. Double recipe for three 10-inch layers.

If desired, add 1-2 cup chopped pecan nuts to part of frosting and use as filling. Spread remaining frosting on top and sides of cake and decorate

Speak Out, Garner Tells Candidates

Vice-President Urges Courage in Politics

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON Vice-President Garner is putting the vice on follow candidates to follow his example by announcing for the presidential nomination regardless of whether President Roosevelt seeks a third term.

He has suggested to Postmaster General Farley and Senator Wheeler of Montana that if they wish to court the favors of Dame Democracy they ought to give her an opportunity to "cuddle up" without fear they will run if Roosevelt comes into the picture.

Report has it that only a few minutes before the Jackson day dinner in Washington, Garner twitted Farley sings required. It pays to remodel coats, suits, and dresses made of good all-wool material to secure additional wear from them.

New material should be shrunk if it is not labeled "pre-shrunk." The simplest way to do this is to place the folded material between the folds of a wet sheet, then roll carefully over a board to prevent wrinkles forming as the material is rolled. Leave it rolled up several hours or over night, then lay the material out on a fat surface to dry.

In making new garments, it is advisable to cut a garment from muslin and fit it. Any necessary alterations can be made in the muslin pattern, thus eliminating much altering when the actual garment is fitted. Mark the bust-line, waist-line, center front and back, buttons, buttonholes, seam allowance, and darts before removing the pattern from the material.

Select good thread. Duff weaves materials, such as tweed, should be stitched with mercerized thread. Lustrous materials, such as broadcloth, look best stitched with silk thread. Materials may have inside seams stitched with silk thread for greater strength if desired. The tensions on the machine should be loosened and the stitch lengthened when sewing heavy woolen materials.

Sew up darts first, cut and press them open. Press all seams as the work progresses, for this helps to produce a professional looking piece of work. Tailors use a pressing block that is padded with only one thickness of tailor's felt. This produces a flat, inconspicuous seam such as is found in men's well tailored suits. The material should be covered with a dry flannel cloth, then a wet cloth, when pressing wool. Fullness in sleeves is shrunk out by continued steaming with a hot iron and a wet cloth. A light patting motion is used rather than pressing. If all the fullness is removed.

In fitting tailored garments, check carefully to see that the lines of the garment hang straight. Pad padding in the shoulders and sleeves to secure this effect.

Interlining may be put in with great ease if the shoulders are left open. Cut the interlining by the same pattern as the garments. Trim the edges until they barely meet and catch-stitch them to the seam of the garment. Interline only the top section of two piece sleeves.

Allow an inch fold in the center back of the lining and generous seams on all edges when cutting the lining. This will prevent pulling at the seams as the lining material does not give as much as the outer material. Darts in the shoulder are folded and catch-stitched instead of being machine stitched. The under-arm and back seams are machine stitched, but the shoulder and armseye seams are fastened with short hemming stitches as are the edges of the lining along the front of the garment. The bottom is hemmed separately from the outer hem of the coat.

Further, there were samples of what Admiral Stark, chief of naval operations, was testifying before the House Naval Affairs Committee did it pop out.

Middlesborough has the highest birth rate of all England and Wales, with 20.3 births per 1000 of population; average for both countries is 15.3 per 1000 of population.

about his half and half candidacy and suggested that he address the assembly as "Fellow Candidates."

Farley did exactly that and got a great burst out of the hundred-dollar plate guests. However, Garner people do not accept this little pleasantry on the part of Farley as any indications that he is "all out" for the nomination.

Nor has Wheeler made any statement which even approximately rivals the 48 word statement by which Garner put himself on the dotted line.

Of course, it is not dumb politics for Mr. Garner to try to get more candidates in his corner. Several candidates, taken in the mass, would constitute a solid "stop Roosevelt" bloc.

That would be more soup in Garner's bowl, because at present he is, willy nilly, a "stop Roosevelt" movement all by himself.

A little sister to the third term mystery is whether Mortimer S. Eccles, Federal Reserve Board chairman and inventor of part of the New Deal, will run for the Senate in Utah.

Senator King, a foe of much of the New Deal, is up for re-election. Several possible candidates are in the picture. Utah has adopted a general primary since King was nominated last, so it poses a new strategy, both for himself and his opposition.

A constellation of minorities might stop King in a convention, but in a primary it simply would divide the opposition and virtually assure his nomination. That is the picture Eccles sees.

Our information is that he has authorized certain prominent Democrats in Utah to determine whether he can have the field to himself against King. If he can, and further research indicates he has a fair chance to uproot King, he will enter the race, so our informant has it. He won't enter the field just to divide the opposition to King, who has proved himself a formidable candidate in times past.

Reaction in congress indicate that President Roosevelt, the army and the navy have not worked the best possible strategy in seeking more money for naval and army rebuilding. There is far more unannounced opposition to the increased defense program than finds its way into print.

Strategic fumble number one appears to have been the scheme for saddling the defense program with the burden of a special defense tax. Members who were not bold enough to come out in the open and fight a defense program of itself are finding the tax scheme a platform from which to hit at both.

A cold night makes a hot pudding seem only welcome.

Chocolate Steamed Pudding With Mocha Sauce
(Serves 6)

One package chocolate pudding, 1-4 cup sugar, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 2 1-2 teaspoons tartrate baking powder 1 cup flour, 1-4 cup butter, melted, 1 egg, 12 cup milk.

Mix and sift together the first five ingredients. Beat egg until frothy; add melted butter and milk. Add this to dry ingredients and mix thoroughly. Put into 6 small steam for 1 hour; or steam in 1 large mold, covered tightly, for 2 hours. Serve with mocha sauce.

Mocha Sauce
Two egg yolks, 1-3 cup sugar, few grains salt, 1-2 cup strong coffee, 1 cup cream, whipped.

Beat yolks slightly. Add sugar, salt and coffee. Cook in double boiler until it thickens enough to coat the spoon. Strain and cool. Fold in whipped cream just before serving.

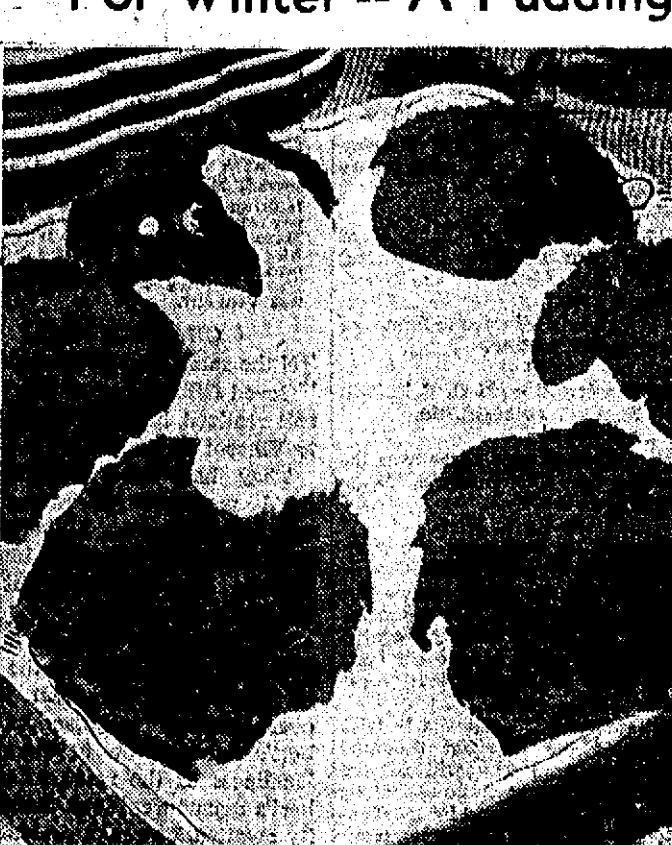

Apple Brown Betty
(Serves 4)

And there's always a plain apple Brown Betty with a welcome taste.

One cup dried bread crumbs (rolled), 1-3 cup melted butter, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 3 cups tart apples, finely chopped, 1 cup brown sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg to taste.

According to a scientist, lumberjacks are the hardest workers among men doing manual labor.

Harnett Believes Cards Best In Loop

Cub Manager Says His Team May Be Up Near the Top

HOPE SPRINGS, Ark. —(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals look like a safe bet to win the National League pennant this season, says Gaby Harnett of the Chicago Cubs.

"Just take away those bad breaks we had last year and watch us sail up there," puffed the veteran backstopper Wednesday.

Harnett checked in here to take the baths and work off a few surplus pounds he picked up since the 1939 campaign. He said he intended to divide catching duties "fifty-fifty" this season with Al Todd, the Cubs' new catcher. Gaby caught 8 games last year and said he expected to handle as many this season.

Discussing the coming title chase, the Chicago skipper said of St. Louis, "They're my choice. But we're going to be up there too. Of course, the Reds will be back strong and the Dodgers are going to give somebody trouble. We may also have to contend with the Pirates because (Manager Frankie) Frisch is certain to change the morale of that club."

Harnett said the Giants had some "possibilities" but he saw practically none for the Bees and Phillies unless they "do a lot of strengthening."

Gaby said the Cubs' bad breaks of last season were the broken leg suffered by outfielder Augie Galan and sore arms developed by Pitchers Dizzy Dean, Clay Bryant and Earl Whitehill. He said if Bryant could get back in shape this season "our pitching staff is well fortified."

"I'd like to see Dean back, too," he added, "regardless of what he signs for."

Dean is currently holding out for more than a reported $10,000 contract offer.

Harnett plans to stay here three weeks. He dropped his first round of golf to Al Simmons Tuesday, alibiing "that guy has about three weeks practice on me."

To minimize danger, automobile brakes should be applied easily and steadily in event of a tire blowout instead of putting full force upon them.

Bruce Catton Says:

McNutt Cites Aid to Labor

By BRUCE CATTON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — When Paul V. McNutt was governor of Indiana there was a general strike in Terre Haute. Governor McNutt called out the troops and proclaimed martial law. In due time the strike ended. Since then it has been the fashion in some ultra-liberal circles to brand Mr. McNutt as anti-labor.

I sat in Mr. McNutt's office in the Federal Security Agency here and asked him about labor and the Terre Haute strike. How about it, anyway? Just where did he stand on labor, and what does that proclamation of martial law signify about his attitude?

"I am perfectly willing," said Mr. McNutt, "to stand on the opinion of recognized labor leaders who were there at the time and knew what it was all about. They recognized that something had to be done, and that what was done was the only thing that could be done."

Supports Labor's "Legitimate Aspirations"

So far, so good; but how about labor generally, as of today?

"I've been very friendly to labor in its legitimate aspirations. I never made any decisions on any policy affecting labor without calling in the labor leaders to discuss it freely and fully. They got more favorable labor legislation during my administration in Indiana than ever before or since."

All very well; but just what are labor's "legitimate" aspirations?

"The legitimate desire of labor," says Mr. McNutt, "is to be placed on an equal basis with those who employ labor, so that a bi-lateral agreement can be reached by across-the-table discussion."

Does Mr. McNutt, then, believe in labor's right to collective bargaining?

"Certainly."

How about that right? Does he be-

Defeat Washington Team 53 to 15 Tuesday Night

The Columbus Independent team easily defeated Washington Tuesday night, 53 to 15, for their seventh straight victory.

This was the first game for Washington and it was a big factor in the loss to the well balanced Columbus team. McJunkins with 14 points and M. Caldwell with 10 led the Columbus scoring.

Robertson was high man for Washington making eight points.

In that connection, you might note that an official of the Conciliation Service of the Labor Department, who was in close touch with things during the whole of the Terre Haute strike, is on record to the effect that as soon as the general strike ended—it lasted 36 hours—Governor McNutt was anxious to lift martial law and remove the troops, and was unable to do so because local officials were unwilling to assume responsibility.

When martial law had to be continued, this official adds, a friend of labor was installed as commandant of the troops.

Will Extend Social Security

Mr. McNutt looks on himself as a thorough New Dealer. He sees the social security program which he now administers, as the heart of the New Deal, and takes it for granted that this program must be extended in the next administration.

"We are now making a beginning that should have been made long since, and we're learning by experience," he says. "We're trying to work out a scheme that will meet our needs as a nation; as I visualize the future of it, that'll mean a good deal of expansion."

Willing to Substitute

Mrs. Epstein was an overly conscientious person. Therefore, when she engaged a new maid, she asked as many questions as are asked in a civil service examination.

"Have you," she asked sternly, "any religious views?"

"No, ma'am, I haven't," answered the girl, "but I've got some dandy snapshots of Niagara Falls and the Great Lakes."

Razorbaks Meet Baylor On Friday

Will Go to Waco for Two Games This Week-End

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. —(AP)— Back in the Southwest conference basketball race after a poor beginning, 10 members of the University of Arkansas basketball squad will leave Thursday night for Waco, Texas, where they meet the Baylor University Golden Bears Friday and Saturday nights.

Arkansas divided its opening circuit series with the University of Texas Longhorns, the defending champions, losing the opener, 33-52, and winning the second battle, 54-44. Baylor has dropped two decisions—both upsets—in two times out, losing to the Southern Methodist University Mustangs, 44-47, and to the Texas Aggies, 46-49.

The Bears, with All-Conference Pete Crensy, star forward, and such stand-outs as Center Frank Bayski, Forward Grady Vaughn and Guard Joe Terry were pre-season title favorites along with the Longhorns, the Porkers and the Rice Owls.

Baylor will have a tough time halting the scoring of Forward John Adams, the Porkers' all-loop star, Center John Frieberger, the tallest player in the conference at six feet eight inches, and Guard Howard Hickey also will give the Bears trouble if their shots are falling right.

Coach Glen Rose probably will start R. C. Pitts a sophomore at forward, and may send O'Neil Adams, another sophomore and brother of John, at guard. If Adams replaces the veteran guard Gerald Gammlil, Arkansas will have more speed and also an experienced player on the bench for reserve.

Arkansas won over Baylor last season, 46-38, 40-36.

Players who will make the trip to Waco are: John and O'Neil Adams, John and Alvin Freiberg, Howard Hickey, Gerald Gammlil, Bill Southard, R. C. Pitts, E. J. Briggs and Junior Mitchell.

Long Prepares for

said a spokesman for James H. Morrison, another candidate, who fell far behind.

Wednesday night the tabulation was:

Long 149,920

Jones 79,143

Noe 77,987

Noe 77,987

Morrison 24,152

Vincent M. Moseley 5,442

About 150,000 ballot still were uncounted. Returns were in from 1,060 of 1,703 precincts. Long lacked a majority of 57,284.

Long's ticket seemed riddled by the ballot. His candidates for attorney general, treasurer and superintendent of education either apparently were defeated or facing a run-off.

Misconstrued

A church congregation was giving a reception to a former pastor in the receiving line greeted his predecessor heartily. "Ah, how pleasant to see you again," he said. "And is this your most charming wife?"

The other minister fixed his host with an accusing stare. "This," he said reprovingly, "is my only wife."

Because he would have nothing to do with that "Yankee holiday," President Andrew Jackson refused to give Thanksgiving Day the customary presidential sanction during his term of office.

Automobile, Truck Damaged in Crash

An automobile and truck were damaged, but the occupants of the two vehicles escaped injury in a collision at Division and Pine streets about 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The automobile was driven by Mrs. Rufus Herndon, Jr., and was headed west on Division. The truck was traveling north on Pine street. The driver of the truck was not learned.

The Herndon automobile was badly damaged.

WASHINGTON — Canada ought to be flattered to blazes at appointment of James H. R. Cromwell as U. S. minister there. This is the first time Ottawa has been classed as a spot where a diplomat must have money in reach to keep up appearances.

There was a time, not far back, when diplomatic posts were considered pure political gravy. The lads most willing to open their purses to finance political campaigns were the ones who got their choice.

That tradition has not altogether faded, even in these days of career diplomats. It prompted one of the wise cracks that started Washington cackling when Cromwell, economist and husband of extremely wealthy Doris Duke Cromwell, was appointed.

"Jimmy Cromwell got 'Canada,' went the jibe, and "Doris Duke got the Democratic party deficit."

Looks Like Dyck Soup

Cromwell won't have trouble with confirmation in the Senate, likely enough, because heaps of members think he is a first-rate economist. Because he can end plausibility to some pretty exciting economic theories, diplomacy ought to be dyck soup for him.

There are several diplomatic posts which traditionally—and factually—are money posts. Ambassadorships to England, France, Germany and Russia always have cost more than the income. At London, Joseph P. Kennedy usually is listed as a multimillionaire. His recent predecessors—Robert Bingham, Andrew W. Mellon, Charles G. Dawes, Alanson B. Houghton and F. B. Kellogg—rarely had to patronize dime stores.

"Our recollection is that Kellogg once remarked that the ambassadorship shook him down about $20,000 a year and he was not a free-spending man. We would bank on it that Kennedy isn't getting by with so little out of pocket. His $17,000 salary and $5,000 to $10,000 expense account would not last him much past Easter."

The three immediate predecessors of William C. Bullitt at Paris—Jesse I. Straus, Walter E. Edge and Myron T. Herrick—also were wealthy men.

The outstanding early ambassador to Paris was Benjamin Franklin. While he made himself famous with such slogans as "A penny saved is a penny earned," he, nevertheless, was one of the richest men in the colonies and his wealth, along with his brains and old brown coat contributed to his prestige abroad.

The three outstanding men of wealth now are recently in diplomatic posts are Kennedy, Bullitt and Joseph E. Davies. There were other candidates of wealth ready for the jobs, but these three were chosen as the cream of the crop and nobody in Washington is ready to doubt that they are good as diplomats.

All three are rich in their own rights while Davies' fortune was supplemented a few years ago by marriage to Marjorie Post Hutton, who startled Russia by moving to Moscow with 2,000 pints of frozen cream to supply the embassy when Davies was transferred to Belgium; now he's doing special service in the state department.

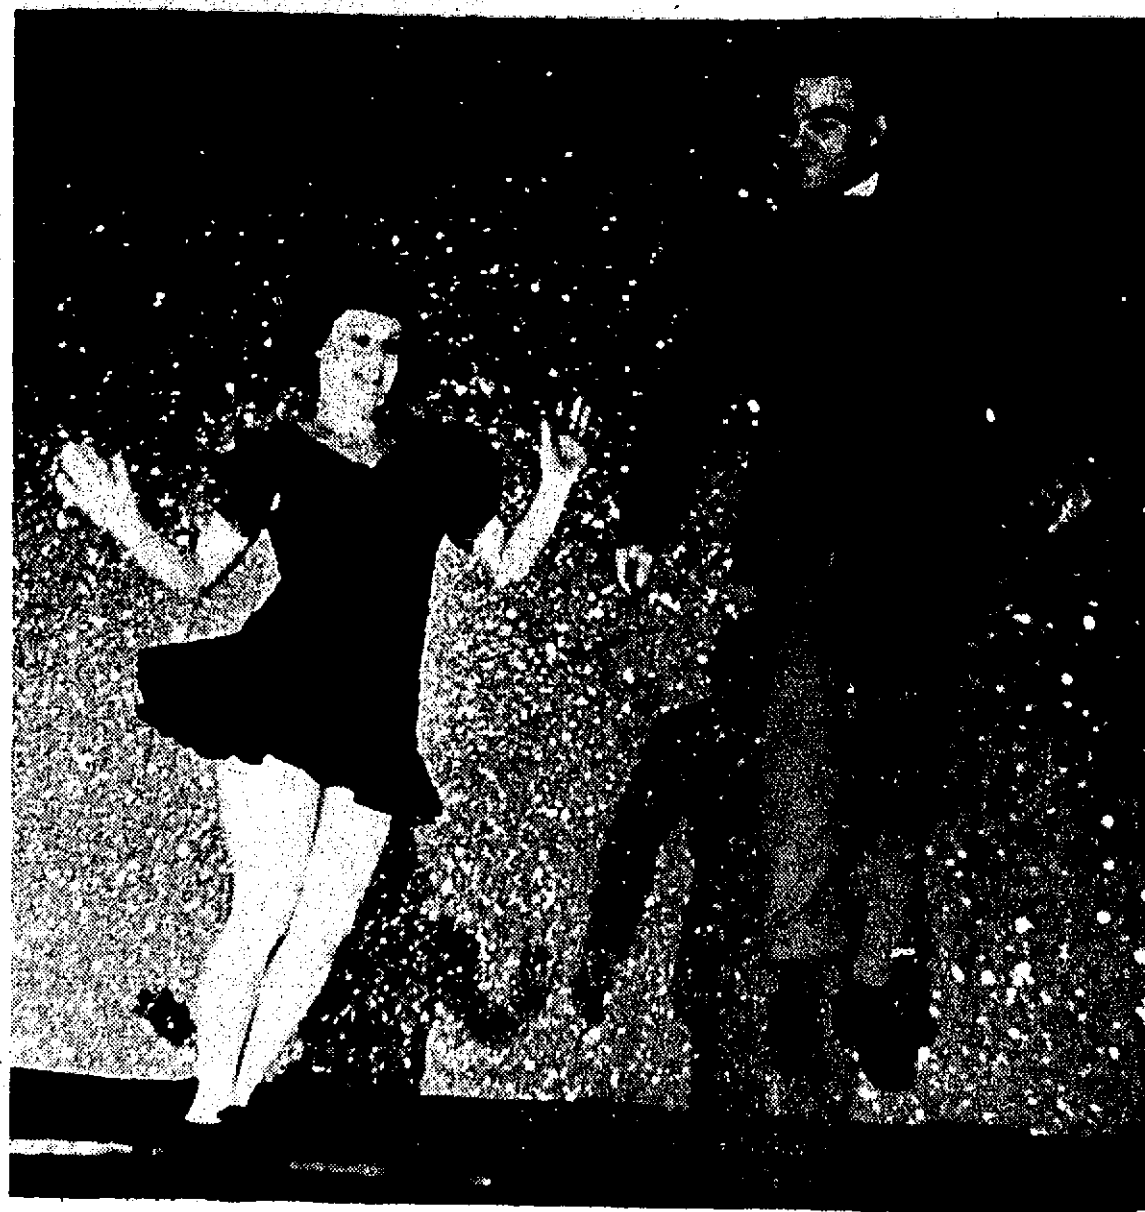

It is a sort of half-baked mystery why this government does not appropriate enough to finance its ambassadors at expensive posts. It may come about as the idea of career diplomacy is extended. England reportedly lays out $75,000 a year for expenses on its Washington embassy in addition to salaries. The Japanese entertainment and expense kitty here is put at about $40,000.

THE PAYOFF

MIAMI, Fla. — Director John Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation is only anticipating when he charges that gaming rooms are running wide open in the Miami area.

There has been a little backroom gambling by the very, very rich at the private Brooks Club at Surfside on the edge of Miami Beach and at the quiet and conservative La Boheme, up the road between Miami and Hollywood.

But there is no outside evidence of gambling in the area . . . no slot machines . . . not even bingo.

There are no baiters on the streets of Miami, handing out invitation cards to no painted advertisements on billboards telling sin seekers where there are bang-up bingo parties, etc., tonight. Trailers on airplanes tell only of good places to eat.

But this doesn't mean that the gambling fraternity isn't here in force 2000 of them . . . bankroll men, fixers, dealers, croupiers, stickmen, cashiers, shills, lookouts bouncers and heavy men.

And as the season strikes its peak with the opening of what figures to be one of the greatest 46-day Hialeah Racetrack meetings the whisper among the gaming boys is "Man-ana."

They are using the accepted formula for getting away with games of chance at a resort . . . nothing doing at the outset, then the sudden green light, and finally, when the boys have gotten in the top weeks, a last no-gambling edict, which really means close up for two reasons.

It's best for home consumption and the season is about concluded.

The Florida season is in full blast for no more than two months.

G-man Hoover has sharper eyes than veteran players if at this time he sees outward signs of gambling on anything other than horses, dogs and jai-alai . . . all legal . . . in Florida's sporty Dade and Broward counties, which a year ago were as wide open as Reno or Monte Carlo.

If . . . and when . . . the game-room boys get the office, as they say, they are very likely to drop around and see Jake Solomon, who with his partner Charley Thomas, a year ago ran the Royal Palm Club, the hottest of Miami's rooms, and the Merry-Go-Round, where as many as 2000 suckers could be accommodated.

No one knows Jake Solomon by that name.

To all he is "Ace Deuce."

He is a little fellow . . . known as a decent sort. He also is the proprietor of the Esquire Club and Grill on Biscayne Boulevard, facing Bay Front Park.

When local boys took over a year ago, Charley Thomas, a big, good-looking chap with black, wavy hair, and generally called a capital fellow, was considered the brain.

Solomon and Thomas, both in the mid 40's were victims of a $10,000 stickup only a few days ago which apparently closed their place seven or eight stories up in the Security Building in downtown Miami.

Col. Edward Riley Bradley does not open his Beach Club at Palm Beach until Feb. 1.

Right now you do not bump into a roulette or crap table, a dice cage game, blackjack and whatnot at your hot dog stand, as you did a year ago. Glass chance boards with one, two or three little dice engaged no longer rub at any cigar stand or small restaurant.

But the pickings are here.

The tourist trade is up 40 per cent and there were a million visitors a year ago. The upswing was shown in the Tropical Park handle, which was up just 40 per cent.

Imagine the play as the more affluent arrive for the higher class meeting at Hialeah Park, the world's most beautiful racetrack, the handle of which was $21,283,778 last winter.

No wonder the gaming room gentry champs at the bit.
